SENATE MAY NOT CONCUR IN KLINE LIQUOR BILL

Storm of Protest May Mean Defeat of Legislation

SCHOOL CODE TO TENER

Is Finally Passed and it is Now up to Governor for Approval or Veto

(Special Correspondence.)

Harrisburg, May 18.—In order to save the Kline liquor bill when the measure was brought to the Senate Wednesday for concurrence the sponsor, Senator Kline was obliged to vote against it. The first vote showed the measure lacked one of having a constitutional majority and Senator Kline voted no, so that he would have the privilege of calling the bill up for a reconsideration. The bill has aroused a storm of protest and it is possible that it may not be able to get the concurrence of the Senate.

The school code has now passed all legislative channels and is on the Governor's desk ready for his signature, which it is believed will be affixed.

Following the conference with Governor Tener Chairman Cox of the Senate judiciary special committee announced that the hearing on the public utilities bill had been changed to 10 o'clock this morning instead of the afternoon.

The Governor gave Fox to understand that if opponents of the bill made no showing at the hearing tomorrow he would insist upon the bill being reported at once and an effort made to pass it.

The Senators are greatly exercised over the Governor's position and are now willing to grant concessions to prevent an extra session of the legislature.

Washington county appropriations were passed by the house as follows: W. & J. college, collateral inheritance, $5,000.

National road bridge at Brownsville $10,000.

Morganza Reform school, $251,500.

Brownsville General hospital, $12,000.

Monongahela Memorial hospital, $35,000.

Washington hospital, $10,000.

Washington City hospital, $10,000.

Canonsburg General hospital, $3,000.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC FOR VALLEY LEAGUE

If Monessen is represented in the Monongahela Valley league this season, it will have to be by other than the Page A. A. team. It was proposed to have this team join the league, but a decided "No" has been the response to the invitation. The Page players consider that they would not have a fair show on account of the fact that they work every day, and are not in the best of shape for games.

Gas Boxes in Bad Condition

Greensboro Gas Company
Requested to Put Them
in Shape Over Town

In order to make it easier to fight fire and as a precautionary measure, the Greensboro gas company has been asked to keep their street boxes clear of dirt and to have them in shape so that gas leading to houses can be turned off at a moment's notice in the street. During the fire of last winter firemen had hard work getting gas shut off, and pipes melting off allowed the gas unrestrained to blaze forth endangering not only property but also lives.

ELDORA SEASON OPENS

Good Park Season Indicated--Dancing is
the Feature

PICNICS DATED AHEAD

With a good sized crowd present Eldora Park opened for the 1911 park season last night under the same management as last year. People were there from Charleroi Monongahela, Monessen and other places along the valley.

An elegant evening for open air recreation, dancing was the feature, although other amusements were well patronized. Jenkins orchestra, an organization which went a great ways last year toward making the park the popular place it was, furnished music for dancing. Prof Oatman had charge of the dancing floor. He has been engaged for the entire season.

All the park amusements and buildings have been renovated and put in the best of shape for the season. Besides the dancing pavilion there are the roller coaster, the merry-go-round, the bamboo slide and other amusements to provide diversion for visitors. Next Sunday Jenkins orchestra will give a sacred concert. On Wednesday the Charleroi School picnic will be held and the next day the Monongahela schools will hold their outing. T. P. Sloan is the manager and Roy Sharpnack is assistant.

The service is unsurpassed and the food palatable and digestible. 23416

Six-Year Old Drowned
While Trying to Swim

BROTHER HELD CLOTHING

Got Tired Waiting for El-
der's Boy's Appearance
and Started Home.

His desire to emulate the larger boys by going swimming in the river led to the death of six-year old Alex. Amesher, the son of Alex Amesher, at Coal Centre. The boy whose funeral was held this morning at 9 o'clock went swimming and while paddling around as he had often watched the older boys do in the river got into deep water and was drowned Tuesday morning. His body was recovered many hours later by divers.

Leaving a smaller brother to hold his clothes little Alex went into the water. Apparently it was but a short time until he had gone beyond his depth. His little brother waited a while until he got tired and not realizing the cause of his brother's absence went away taking the clothes with him. Up street a short distance he was met by some men who inquired what he was carrying the clothes for.

"Oh," the little fellow cheerfully replied, "My brother went under the water and he hasn't come up yet. I just got tired waiting."

The men broke for the river without further parley. Search for the boy's body was instituted but without immediate results. Finally late in the evening two men recovered the body while diving for it. The family is quite well known in and around Coal Centre.

MAKING GOOD.

The Pittsburg Dispatch, one of the Republican papers that was hostile

to Governor John K. Tener, during the late campaign makes this gracious ac-

knowledge of the Governor's administration which is admittedly in the interests of the people.

"Unnecessary and untimely abuse is

being heaped upon Governor Tener.

He was elected by the people, pledged

himself to certain policies and thus

far during his administration has

shown every disposition to carry out

his promises. In fact he has been a good Governor. In trying to put

through the public utilities bill he has

exhibited a similar determination to

give the people exactly what they want and what the State needs. It

is wrong therefore at this time

assail him with criticism. The time

for that will be if he should fail to

redeem his pledges.

"The Governor should not be blamed

for faults of the Legislature. He is the executive. It is his duty to sign

or veto the measures enacted by the legislative branch. Should he sign a

bill against the public interest or veto

one that the people demand then will

be the time to criticize his action, but

not now when so far he has conducted his administration with scrupulous regard for his pledges and for office.

"The Dispatch was one of the newspapers that did not support Mr. Tener

during the gubernatorial campaign.

Thus far we have not seen anything

that he has done deserving of adverse

criticism. Rather his course has merited commendation. Should he falter

in his effort to redeem his pledges or

fail to serve the public interest, the

Dispatch would be the first to criticise him. Meanwhile he merits the support of all friends of good government, who should fortify him with the

power of public opinion so that in

addition to the privileges of his position he may have the influence of the

people behind him in resisting any

effort to nullify his program or to de-

feat the popular will."

GAINING STRENGTH.

With the voting of the appropriation of $300 by the borough council for

a children's playground this season

the movement inaugurated by

President J. B. Schafer and a committee of the Business Men's Association has been given a big impetus.

President Schafer is busy complet-

ing arrangements and a playground

for this season at least is assured.

With the movement a well defined

sentiment is gaining ground that the

borough should take steps available

a permanent playground or recreation

park. There are one or two available

places at the present time within

the borough limits, but quick action

will have to be taken to secure a site.

Vacant lots will not always be avail-

able and as every up-to-date city or

town is taking steps to provide per-

manent open space if not parks the

sentiment in Charleroi is along the line of modern thought. This is a matter for the citizens and taxpayers

to consider as the time will never be

more opportune than at the present

time to take this matter in hand.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

In point of general appearance, it

cannot be said that King Alphonse

has changed much in the past 15

years.

Oh! you success. Per graduation

advice.

If graduates of High Schools, colleges and things would get out in

the world and demonstrate how to

succeed as readily as they tell how

it should be done, people might be-

lieve some few things they say in

their commencement orations.

Last of the typhoid-breeding fly

Hath vanished in its burial vat,

When the mosquito, nibble pest,

Hath found its everlasting rest,

And when at last the plaguey rat

Hath gone, we will determine that

With mania unabated still

The motor bug is here to kill.

The man who thinks he can run the

legislature better than it is run, is

welcome to the job.

With eloping so common, there isn't

even sensation to be gained.

Wouldn't ploughing of the old fashioned kind be fine training for the

college field meet of today.

New York is not the only wicked

city in the United States. Pittsburg

and Chicago can qualify.

It is strange how much nicer it feels

sitting under a big tree than it does

occupying a hot office these days.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A legislative correspondent in Harrisburg writes the following:

"There has never been a more in-

dustrious executive in Harrisburg

than Governor Tener. Not content

with putting in a full day at the Capitol, the Governor frequently trans-

acts an immense amount of official

business at home. When the grind

begins to wear on him he goes to a

baseball game if he can find one

handy, and if not he walks along the

river front down Market street, looking at the displays in the shop windows, dodging automobiles whose

autocratic chauffeurs sometime shout

at him to 'Get out of the way' with-

out knowing who he is, and stopping

occasionally to chat with a street

urchin.

"It is a good way for a man in his

position to relax, isn't it? If change

means rest, such a pronounced change

as that ought to be very soothing and

cheering and freshening."

An automobile owner has called attention to the practice of small boys

in Charleroi and elsewhere stealing

rides on machines, and in pointing

out the danger arising from such attempts, cites the death of James

Smith, of Stockdale as an example.

He said:

"It seems to be a universal desire

among boys to want to steal rides

on automobile trucks. It is practically

an impossibility to keep them off,

and more than one of them has been

hurt. I have complained to the

authorities about the matter, and

they have tried to prevent the practice, but still there is no let-up. If you throw the boys off, you are go-

ing to be the object of as good a cus-

sing as any man ever listened to. Besides the boys throw stones, clods, or

almost anything they can lay their

hands on in some cases to punctuate

their desires to steal rides. I wish

there was some way of preventing

this, for as is illustrated in the case

of the Stockdale lad, there is danger

of death."

ANXIETY.

Anxiety is the poison of human

life, the parent of many sins and of

more miseries. Can your solicitude

alter the cause or unravel the intri-

cacy of human events? Can your curiosity pierce the cloud the Supreme Being hath made impenetrable? To provide against every important danger by the employment

of the most promising means is the

office of wisdom, but at this point

wisdom stops.—Blair.

Saved by a Witticism.

In February, 1844, when John Tyler

was president, the Princeton made a

trial trip down the Potomac under Captain R. F. Stockton. On board at the time were President Tyler, members

of the cabinet, other notables and a large number of women. As was customary at that time, a salute was to

be fired while passing Mount Vernon

Just as it was discharged the gun exploded at the breech, killing five persons and wounding several others.

Those killed were Abel P. Upshur, secretary of state; Thomas W. Gilmer,

secretary of the navy; Commodore

Kennon, chief of the bureau of construction of the navy; Virgil Maxcy,

ex-minister to The Hague, and Mr.

Gardiner, former senator, from New York.

William Wilkins, then secretary of war, was saved by a witticism. Seeing the gun about to be fired, he ex-

claimed jokingly, "Though secretary of

war, I do not like this firing, and I believe I shall run." He thereupon left

his position directly beside the gun

and had just reached safety when the

explosion occurred.

A Burning Glass in the Eye.

In the front part of each of our eyes

is a convex lens of great power and

clearness. It acts exactly like a burning glass. If a person was made to look at the sun, say, for half a minute

his eye would actually start to burn

up. The lens would focus the rays of the sun on the retina, and that part of

the eye would immediately scorch and

later would burn to a crisp. This can happen, however, only when one looks

at the sun directly or in a mirror. If

one holds a pin between the sun and

the eye and looks at the pin, although

No Room For Him.

Several relics of exceptional value and of unusual interest to archaeologists were discovered in a small town near Nuremberg, and as soon as the news reached him the director of the Nuremberg Historical museum went to the village and introduced himself to the mayor, saying: "I am in charge of the museum at Nuremberg, and I'd like to—" "You're too late, my good sir," interrupted the mayor. "We've already got here several merry-go-rounds, a bearded woman, a theatrical company composed of apes, a troupe of trained dogs and a band of Hungarian musicians, so you can readily see that we've got no room for your museum." And with these words he nodded to the director and went away.

Champion Egg Layers.

Many insects are extremely prolific. All of the order Hymenoptera, the bees and ants, lay large numbers, but they are easily exceeded by the order Plecoptera, the stone flies, one female of which deposits from 5,000 to 6,000 eggs. But the champion egg layers are the insects embraced in the order Isoptera, the white ants. Dr. Howard states that these insects are called white ants because they are not ants and because they are not white, but he further goes on to tell us that the females of some of the African species grow to an enormous size, and their abdomen, swollen with eggs, becomes as big as a large potato. The rate at which the eggs are laid is extraordinary, being about sixty a minute, or 80,000 and upward a day.

Knew His Geography.

MI-O-NA TABLETS

Relieves Distress, Heaviness and Sour Stomach, and Surely Cures Indigestion

Don't put off such an important matter as putting your stomach in condition. If it is weak get a box of Mi-o-na tablets and make it strong. You take no risk when you buy a fifty cent box of Mi-o-na because if it does not cure indigestion or any ailments arising from indigestion your money will be returned by Piper Bros.

Try Mi-o-na stomach tablets for nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, foul breath, heaviness after eating, loss of appetite, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy and that all gone feeling the morning after the social session.

Robespierre's Style of Dress.

Robespierre's manner of dress, even at the period when the demagogues affected the slovenliness and disorder of indigence in order to flatter the people, was clean, decent and precise as that of a man who respects himself in the eyes of others. His white powdered hair, turned up in clusters over his temples; a bright blue coat buttoned over his hips, open over the breast to display a white vest; short yellow colored breeches, white stockings and shoes with silver buckles, formed his invariable costume during the whole of his public life. It was said that he desired by thus never varying the style or color of his garments to make the same impression in the sight and imagination of the people as a medal of his face would have caused.—Lamartine's "History of the Girondists."

Very Sensitive.

"I don't know what I am going to do with that kid of mine. He's always getting into fights. I jerked him up for it the other day. 'What do you mean by fighting on the public streets like this?' I asked. 'Well,' he said, 'Jimmy Montgomery said you were my father.' 'Well, ain't I your father?' 'I s'pose you are, but a feller don't want it thrown up to him right in front of a crowd.'—Boston Traveler.

A Taste For Soap.

Surely one of the queerest of tastes was that of the historian Prescott, of whose life in Rome Mrs. Hugh Fraser tells in "A Diplomatist's Wife in Many Lands." She says that he used to keep a cake of soap on his writing table and nibble at it constantly, "saying, when he was remonstrated with, that people should be clean inside as well as out."

Most Important.

George—What can be the matter? The telegram says, "Come home at once." I must fly.

George (as he arrives home two hours later)—What on earth is the matter, dearest?

Young Wife—The baby said "Dad—da!"—Exchange.

EVERYONE NEEDS IT

W. F. Hennings is Having a Wonderful Sale of Thompson's Barosma, the Mighty Kidney and Liver Specific.

And no wonder, when he offers to refund your money if it doesn't cure any disease of the kidneys, liver or bladder, backache, sideache, nervousness or any weakness of the kidneys. But Thompson's Barosma has made so many almost miraculous cures that W. F. Hennings' is pretty certain not to have any returns.

Here are a few instances. Frank L. Sturges, Sturtevant, Crawford county, Pa., was cured of Bright's disease six years ago and only took six bottles. He has had no bad symptoms since.

"I had kidney trouble and enlargement of the liver and spleen. I took Thompson's Barosma. The first bottle reduced the measurement around my stomach from 45 to 36 inches, and several bottles completely cured me."—M. S. Langworthy, Tryonville, Pa.

After suffering the terrible agony of rheumatism for ten years, being compelled to use crutches, J. N. Dunn, Troy Center, Pa., after all hope had left him, and he had no faith in any remedy took six bottles of Thompson's Barosma, threw away his crutches and went to work for the first time in ten years.

These statements are absolutely true, and the Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa., will prove it. Then why should anyone suffer in the face of such facts? How can they suffer when W. F. Hennings' guarantees to refund the money if a cure is not effected? Thompson's Barosma, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Fleeced the Queen.

When George IV was crowned it was feared that the discarded Queen Caroline might appear and create a scene at Westminster abbey during the ceremony. A gentleman of the name of Chutneigh offered to go into the anteroom where Caroline was waiting and keep her engaged until the conclusion of the ceremony. That was a time when nearly everybody gambled, and the discarded queen was no exception to the rule. After a few casual remarks about the weather Chutneigh took three cards from his pocket and invited Caroline to "Spot the lady." Time and again she backed her judgment with money and each time lost. Then she played higher stakes in the hope of retrieving her ill fortune. Her last guinea had been taken in by Chutneigh before she remembered her intention to be at the coronation. But it was too late. The ceremony was over, and the new king, "the greatest blackguard in all Europe," was on his way to the palace. To Mr. Chutneigh, who thus holds the credit of introducing the three card trick into England, a pension was granted.

Obedied Directions.

One of the small theaters in Pittsburgh at which moving pictures and vaudeville sketches alternate recently changed a sign which read: "Ladies that remove their hats will find mirrors and all conveniences on the room to the left as they pass out. Thank you for removing them." Some of their patrons acted too literally on the sign. Just before it was changed one of the employees saw a woman of rustic appearance and a happy expression leaving with several combs, a brush and two small hand mirrors.

"Say, what do you think you're doing with those things?" he demanded. She was taking them home, she informed him. "Now, yer not!" said the man; "we don't put them things in there for you to take away."

"Well, of all things," exclaimed the indignant dame, "ain't I read with my own eyes that you would thank ladies to remove them. And ain't I a lady?" Then the sign was changed.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Telephone Blunders.

"Have you any spare ribs?" was the question asked a Portland business man recently, when he took down the telephone receiver to answer a call. For a moment the business man thought he was the subject of some joke, but the sweet voice that asked the question reassured him, and he realized that there was some mistake so he hastily answered.

"No, madam, I am not Adam, and I am not willing to give up one of my ribs for any purpose."

"Oh, I beg your pardon," was the prompt reply. "I thought I had Blank's meat market."

This incident brought forth a story about the chief of police of Oakland, Cal. Some years ago, when asked over the telephone if he had any brains, he grew furious and said some very impolite things to the lady who asked the question before he discovered that she wanted a butcher shop and not the chief of police.—Portland Oregonian.

He Would Indeed.

"What's this word, pa?" asked Willie, pointing it out in his book. "Phenomenon," replied pa.

"Well, what is that?"

"That, my son, is exactly what you would be if you never disturbed your father with questions."—Catholic Standard and Times.

JOHN BANISTER.

An English Violinist Who Won Fame in the Seventeenth Century.

Public concerts owe their direct encouragement to John Banister, who had won fame by his playing on the violin and who succeeded the celebrated Baltzar as leader of Charles II's band of twenty-four violins. Pepys, in an entry in his diary for February, 1677, tells us the court gossip of the day—"how the king's violin Banister is mad that the king hath a Frenchman come to be chief of some part of the king's musique."

Banister's concerts at the close of the year 1672 were advertised in the London Gazette as follows: "These are to give notice that at Mr. John Banister's house now called the musick school, over against the George tavern in White Fryers, the present Monday will be musick performed by excellent masters, beginning precisely at 4 of the clock in the afternoon, and every afternoon for the future precisely at the same hour."

Four years later on we read again. "At the academy in Little Lincoln's Inn Fields will begin the first part of the parley of instruments, composed by Mr. John Banister." The admission was at this time as a rule a shilling, and these concerts seem to have been held pretty regularly down to within a short time of Banister's death, which took place in 1679.—London Graphic.

The Peanut.

The common peanut originally came probably from tropical America. Peanuts were introduced into the United States in the days of the colonies. Botanically the peanut belongs to the same group of plants as beans and peas, but the peanut matures its fruit or nut under the surface of the soil, not above ground, as do most other leguminous plants. Properly speaking, the peanut is a pea rather than a nut, the term "nut" having been added on account of its flavor, which is similar to that of many of the true nuts. The peanut is known under the local names of goober, goober pea, pindar, groundpea and groundnut.

Reasonable Request.

"Ladies and gentlemen," appealingly began the village handy man, advancing to the front of the stage and addressing the few patient persons who remained of the audience which had assembled to witness the beautiful pastoral drama, "The Mad Miller's Daughter," written by the hamlet's accomplished authoress and presented by home talent performers. "I am requested by the members of the company to ask you to remain until the end of the play. In the next act, which I solemnly assure you is the last, the villain gets his due and is slain without mercy, and we want witnesses."—Puck.

They Might Do Worse.

The German proprietor of a Brooklyn delicatessen store has got far enough along to pun in English. A writer in the New York Sun reports the fact.

Hanging in the window of the little shop is this advertisement: "The best you can do is to buy our wurst."

A Borrower.

"Has Dinguss any occupation?" inquired Ruggles.

"Yes," said Shadbolt. "He's a solicitor."

"Solicitor? For what?"

"Small and unsecured loans."—Chicago Tribune.

A Surprised Poet.

Wife—What is the matter, dear? Haven't they published your poem? Poet—Oh, yes, that's all right, but they're actually selling the paper at a penny, as though there was nothing unusual in it.—London Tit-Bits.

Tickled With a Feather.

"I never knew any one who could be so tickled with a feather as my wife."

"Ticklish, is she?"

"Not usually but this was an ostrich feather she bought at a bargain sale."

—Philadelphia Ledger.

How to Cure Chronic Colds and Bronchitis

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910.

"I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve—I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."—THOMAS HIGGINS.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cold's livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis.

VINOL is a constitutional remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups.

Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money.

PETER PINDAR'S RUSE.

It Enabled the Astute Author to Drive a Good Bargain.
 Some time about the beginning of the nineteenth century Peter Pindar (Dr. John Wolcott) drove a good bargain with the publishers, Robinson & Walker. While negotiations were under way the author developed an attack of asthma, which was always at its most distressing stage whenever the publishers were present. He was only fifty-seven then, but the publishers decided that their chances were good and agreed to pay him an annuity of £250 instead of a lump sum for his work.
 Soon after the bond was signed the doctor went to Cornwall, where he recovered his health, and returned to London without any cough, which was far from being a pleasing sight to the persons who had to pay his annuity. One day he called upon Mr. Walker, the manager for the parties, who, surveying him with a scrutinizing eye, asked him how he did. "Much better, thank you," said Wolcott. "I have taken the measure of my asthma; the fellow is troublesome, but I know his strength and am his master." "Oh!" said Mr. Walker gravely, and turned into an adjoining room, where Mrs. Walker, a prudent woman, had been listening to the conversation. Wolcott, aware of the feeling, paid a keen attention to the husband and wife and heard the latter exclaim: "There, now, didn't I tell you he wouldn't die? Fool that you're been! I knew he wouldn't die."
 Peter Pindar survived both the parties.—New York Post.

CAUGHT ON THE BOUNCE.

The Parson's Second Barrel Play on the Wounded Ducks.
 When the night wind whines about the gunning cabin nestled in the beach hills the hearts within grow reminiscent.
 "The best canvasback shooting I ever had was down off the mouth of Crazy Inlet," said the parson. "A ripping northeaster was blowing, and I was out on the end of the point alone. The ducks came down wind along the edge of the shoal, and they were so far away that it was just impossible to kill them outright. I could have had a hundred shots that day, they came so thick, but I let a lot of them go by. At dark I had picked up twenty-two birds. Not one of them was dead when I dropped them as they wheeled by; but, boys, I didn't have to shoot a single cripple in the water."

 Curley gave the parson a long look, filled and lighted his pipe, then snorted in disgust, for he was an old hand, and he knew that one needed more than a pinch of salt to capture a wounded canvasback in open water.
 "Suppose you hypnotized those birds you couldn't kill dead into coming ashore for you to wring their necks?" he grunted.
 "No," said the parson slowly; "they were going so fast that when I knocked 'em down they'd hit the water and bound up ten or fifteen feet. Then I'd kill 'em on the first bounce with the second barrel."—Outing.

The Name Tibet.
 Many forms of the name Tibet sprang from the Chinese T'ubar (fifth century) through the variations of Tuet, Tobet, Thibet (1165), Tebet (1295), to Tibet (1730). The origin of the name has been variously accounted for, but the weight of historical evidence indicates that the word is derived from Tubat, a famous family name proper to several ancient Tartar dynasties, extensively used in the sense of "chief." Hodgson asserts that before the arrival of Indian teachers the people had no name for themselves or their land, and, though the present name is not, as some say, unknown in the country itself, the modern Tibetans call themselves Bod-pa and their land Bod-yul. Bod being a Buddhist appellation suggested by the Sanskrit bod, or bat, so working back to the Tartar name.—London Spectator.

A Joke and a Law.
 Tradition is that the habeas corpus act was put on the English statute books as the outcome of a joke at the expense of a bulky lord. It was in the final division in the house of lords, and Lord Grey and Lord Norris were appointed tellers. Lord Norris was not attentive to his duties, and when a very fat lord came in Lord Grey counted the obese person for ten, at first as a joke; but, seeing Lord Norris had not observed, the other noble lord went on with the miscount. By that means, says Bishop Burnet, a sufficient number of votes was secured, and the bill was passed. Long afterward the American colonists took over the act from England.

When Knighthood Was In Flower.
 Mrs. Liteknicht—Could you oblige me with a heavy hammer, a chisel, your pliers and half a dozen rivets?
 Mrs. Liteknicht—Certainly. Are you doing a little sewing for the children?
 Mrs. Liteknicht—No. My husband ripped his Sunday coat yesterday, and I want to mend it.

Easier Way.
 "Don't you think it must be a dreadful thing to live from hand to mouth?"
 "I don't know. I live myself from hand to foot."
 "How's that?"
 "My tradesman hands out the bills, and my husband foots them."—Baltimore American.

Kean and Macready.
 When Edmund Kean and Macready, intense rivals, played in the same pieces at Drury Lane it was usual to consult them in the course of the evening as to what they would appear in next. One night when the prompter was sent to ask Mr. Macready what he would play with Mr. Kean the great tragedian frowned upon him till he blushed. "Sir," he roared, "how should I know what the man would like to play?" The prompter retired to seek the desired information from Mr. Kean. "Sir," said Mr. Kean sharply, "how should I know what the fellow can play?"

Analogue.
 "I understand your friend Jenkins has resigned that city clerkship he held."
 "Resigned? H'm!"
 "Oh, wasn't it voluntary?"
 "Well, it was just as voluntary as his contributions to the campaign fund were."—Philadelphia Press.

The Riddle.
 "Woman is a riddle," remarked the Wise Guy.
 "Yes," agreed the Simple Mug. "She keeps us guessing, and we hate to give her up."—Philadelphia Record.

Waiting.
 "De man dat puts in too much time learnin' to wait patiently," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to git out o' practice fob doin' anything else."—Washington Star.

Time ripens all things. No man is born wise.—Cervantes.

TWILIGHT WINS FROM CATHOLICS

Boys From Adjoining Borough Prove Too Strong for Church Leagues

The Catholics of the Church League, were defeated by a team from Twilight on the league grounds last evening but in justice to the former, it must be said that they were minus the services of some of their strongest players. However the visitors were entitled to the victory, as they put up the better exhibition. The contest was a pretty one for four innings, but in the fifth the visitors, by a display of consecutive hitting, assumed a safe lead by scoring four runs. Alex Sutherland was in the box for the visitors. He is a left-hander with a fine assortment of curves and good control, and was practically unhittable when men were on bases, while Deitz was found when hits meant runs. It is possible that a return game will be played.

SENATE MAY NOT CONCUR IN KLINE LIQUOR BILL

Storm of Protest May
Mean Defeat of Legislation

SCHOOL CODE TO TENER
is Finally Passed and it is Now up to Governor for
Approval or Veto

(Special Correspondence)
Harrisburg, May 18.—In order to save the Kline liquor bill when the measure was brought to the Senate Wednesday for concurrence the sponsor, Senator Kline was obliged to vote against it. The first vote showed the measure lacked one of having a constitutional majority and Senator Kline voted no, so that he would have the privilege of calling the bill up for a reconsideration. The bill has aroused a storm of protest and it is possible that it may not be able to get the concurrence of the Senate.

The school code has now passed all legislative channels and is on the Governor's desk ready for his signature, which it is believed will be affixed.

Following the conference with Governor Tener Chairman Cox of the Senate judiciary special committee announced that the hearing on the public utilities bill had been changed to 10 o'clock this morning instead of the afternoon.

The Governor gave Fox to understand that if opponents of the bill made no showing at the hearing tomorrow he would insist upon the bill being reported at once and an effort made to pass it.

The Senators are greatly exercised over the Governor's position and are now willing to grant concessions to prevent an extra session of the legislature.

Washington county appropriations were passed by the house as follows:

W. & J. college, collateral inheritance, $5,000.
National road bridge at Brownsville $10,000.
Morgantown Reform school, $251,500.
Brownsville General hospital, $12,000.
Monongahela Memorial hospital, $35,000.
Washington hospital, $10,000.
Washington, City hospital, $10,000.
Canonsburg General hospital, $3,000.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC FOR VALLEY LEAGUE

If Monongahela is represented in the Monongahela Valley league this season, it will have to be by other than the Page A. A. team. It was proposed to have this team join the league, but a decided "No" has been the response to the invitation. The Page players consider that they would not have a fair show on account of the fact that they work every day, and are not in the best of shape for games.

Gas Boxes in Bad Condition

Greensboro Gas Company
Requested to Put Them
in Shape Over Town

In order to make it easier to fight fire and as a precautionary measure, the Greensboro gas company has been asked to keep their street boxes clear of dirt and to have them in shape so that gas leading to houses can be turned off at a moment's notice in the street. During the fire of last winter firemen had hard work getting gas shut off, and pipes melting off allowed the gas unrestrained to blaze forth endangering not only property but also lives.

ELDORA SEASON OPENS

Good Park Season Indicated--Dancing is
the Feature

PICNICS DATED AHEAD

With a good sized crowd present Eldora Park opened for the 1911 park season last night under the same management as last year. People were there from Charleroi Monongahela, Monessen and other places along the valley.

An elegant evening for open air recreation, dancing was the feature, although other amusements were well patronized. Jenkins orchestra, an organization which went a great ways last year toward making the park the popular place it was, furnished music for dancing. Prof Oatman had charge of the dancing floor. He has been engaged for the entire season.

All the park amusements and buildings have been renovated and put in the best of shape for the season. Besides the dancing pavilion there are a roller coaster, the merry-go-round the bamboo slide and other amusements to provide diversion for visitors.

Next Sunday Jenkins orchestra will give a sacred concert. On Wednesday the Charleroi School picnic will be held and the next day the Monongahela schools will hold their outing.

Six-Year Old Drowned
Swim

BROTHER HELD CLOTHING

Got Tired Waiting for El-
der's Boy's Appearance
and Started Home

His desire to emulate the larger boys by going swimming in the river led to the death of six-year old Alex Amesher, the son of Alex Amesher, at Coal Centre. The boy whose funeral was held this morning at 9 o'clock went swimming and while paddling around as he had often watched the older boys do in the river got into deep water and was drowned Tuesday morning. His body was recovered many hours later by divers.

Leaving a smaller brother to hold his clothes little Alex went into the water. Apparently it was but a short time until he had gone beyond his depth. His little brother waited a while until he got tired and not realizing the cause of his brother's absence went away taking the clothes with him. Up street a short distance he was met by some men who inquired what he was carrying the clothes for.

"Oh," the little fellow cheerfully replied, "My brother went under the water and he hasn't come up yet. I just got tired waiting."

The men broke for the river without further parley. Search for the boy's body was instituted but without immediate results. Finally late in the evening two men recovered the body while diving for it. The family is quite well known in and around Coal Centre.

MAKING GOOD.

The Pittsburg Dispatch, one of the Republican papers that was hostile
to Governor John K. Tener, during the late campaign makes this year's ac-
knowledge of the Governor's administration which is admittedly in the
interests of the people.

"Unnecessary and untimely abuse is
being heaped upon Governor Tener.
He was elected by the people, pledged
himself to certain policies and thus
far during his administration has
shown every disposition to carry out
his promises. In fact he has been
a good Governor. In trying to put
through the public utilities bill he has
exhibited a similar determination to
give the people exactly what they
want and what the State needs. It
is wrong therefore at this time
to assail him with criticism. The time
for that will be if he should fail to
redeem his pledges.

"The Governor should not be blamed
for faults of the Legislature. He is
the executive. It is his duty to sign
or veto the measures enacted by the legislative branch. Should he sign a
bill against the public interest or veto
one that the people demand then will
be the time to criticize his action, but
not now when so far he has conducted his administration with scrupulous regard for his pledges and for
office.

"The Dispatch was one of the newspapers that did not support Mr. Tener
during the gubernatorial campaign.
Thus far we have not seen anything
that he has done deserving of adverse
criticism. Rather his course has merited commendation. Should he falter
in his effort to redeem his pledges or
fail to serve the public interest, the
Dispatch would be the first to criticize him. Meanwhile he merits the support of all friends of good government, who should fortify him with the
power of public opinion so that in

addition to the privileges of his position he may have the influence of the
people behind him in resisting any
effort to nullify his program or to de-
feat the popular will."

GAINING STRENGTH.

With the voting of the appropriation of $300 by the borough council
for a children's playground this season the movement inaugurated by President J. B. Schafer and a committee of the Business Men's Association has been given a big impetus.
President Schafer is busy complet-
ing arrangements and a playground
for this season at least is assured.

With the movement a well defined
sentiment is gaining ground that the
borough should take steps available
a permanent playground or recreation
park. There are one or two available
places at the present time within
the borough limits, but quick action
will have to be taken to secure a site.
Vacant lots will not always be avail-
able and as every up-to-date city or
town is taking steps to provide per-
manent open space if not parks the
sentiment in Charleroi is along the line of modern thought. This is a
matter for the citizens and taxpayers
to consider as the time will never be
more opportune than at the present
to take this matter in hand.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

In point of general appearance, it
cannot be said that King Alphonse
years.

Oh! you success. Per graduation
advice.

If graduates of High Schools, colleges and things would get out in
the world and demonstrate how to
succeed as readily as they tell how
it should be done, people might believe some few things they say in
their commencement orations.

After the typhoid-breeding fly
Last of a noxious brood, both die.
After the diphtheric cat
Hath vanished in its burial vat,
When the mosquito, nibble pest,
Hath found its everlasting rest,
And when at last the plaguey rat
Hath gone, we will determine that
With mania unabated still
The motor bug is here to kill.

The man who thinks he can run the
legislature better than it is run, is
welcome to the job.

With eloping so common, there isn't
even sensation to be gained.

Wouldn't ploughing of the old fashioned kind be fine training for the
college field meet of today.

New York is not the only wicked
city in the United States. Pittsburg
and Chicago can qualify.

It is strange how much nicer it feels
sitting under a big tree than it does
occupying a hot office these days.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A legislative correspondent in Harrisburg writes the following:

"There has never been a more in-
dustrious executive in Harrisburg
than Governor Tener. Not content
with putting in a full day at the Capitol, the Governor frequently trans-
acts an immense amount of official
business at home. When the grind
begins to wear on him he goes to a
baseball game if he can find one
handy, and if not he walks along the
river front down Market street, look-
ing at the displays in the shop windows, dodging automobiles whose
automatic chauffeurs sometime shout
at him to 'Get out of the way!' with-
out knowing who he is, and stopping
occasionally to chat with a street
urchin.

"It is a good way for a man in his
position to relax, isn't it? If change
means rest, such a pronounced change
as that ought to be very soothing and
cheering and freshening."

An automobile owner has called attention to the practice of small boys
in Charleroi and elsewhere stealing
rides on machines, and in pointing
out the danger arising from such attempts, cites the death of James
Smith, of Stockdale as an example.
He said:

"It seems to be a universal desire
among boys to want to steal rides
on automobile trucks. It is practically
an impossibility to keep them off,
and more than one of them has been
hurt. I have complained to the
authorities about the matter, and
they have tried to prevent the practice, but still there is no let-up. If
you throw the boys off, you are go-

ing to be the object of as good a cus-
sing as any man ever listened to. Besides the boys throw stones, clods, or
almost anything they can lay their
hands on in some cases to punctuate
their derision to steal rides. I wish
there was some way of preventing
this, for as is illustrated in the case
of the Stockdale lad, there is danger
of death."

ANXIETY.

Anxiety is the poison of human
life, the parent of many sins and of
more miseries. Can your solicitude
alter the cause or unravel the intri-
cacy of human events? Can your curiosity pierce the cloud the Supreme Being hath made impenetrable? To provide against every important danger by the employment
of the most promising means is the
office of wisdom, but at this point
wisdom stops.—Blair.

Saved by a Witicism.

In February, 1844, when John Tyler
was president, the Princeton made a
trial trip down the Potomac under Captain R. F. Stockton. On board at the
time were President Tyler, members
of the cabinet, other notables and a
large number of women. As was customary at that time, a salute was to
be fired while passing Mount Vernon.
Just as it was discharged the gun exploded at the breech, killing five per-
sons and wounding several others.
Those killed were Abel P. Upshur, secretary of state; Thomas W. Gilmer,
secretary of the navy; Commodore
Kennon, chief of the bureau of construction of the navy; Virgil Maxcy,
ex-minister to The Hague, and Mr.
Gardiner, former senator, from New York.

William Wilkins, then secretary of war, was saved by a witicism. Seeing the gun about to be fired, he ex-
claimed jokingly, "Though secretary of
war, I do not like this firing, and I believe I shall run." He thereupon left
his position directly beside the gun
and had just reached safety when the
explosion occurred.

A Burning Glass in the Eye.

In the front part of each of our eyes
is a convex lens of great power and
clearness. It acts exactly like a burning glass. If a person was made to
look at the sun, say, for half a minute
his eye would actually start to burn
up. The lens would focus the rays of
the sun on the retina, and that part of
the eye would immediately scorch and
later would burn to a crisp. This can happen, however, only when one looks
at the sun directly or in a mirror. If
one holds a pin between the sun and
the eye and looks at the pin, although
the sun is in a direct line with the eye
and although its rays are entering the eye, the eye is not hurt, because the rays are not focused inside the eyeball.
This is the wonderful property the lens
has, that of focusing objects at different distances. The means by which it does this are its power to change its curvature.—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Election Story From Hungary.

An electioneering story from Hungary, as told by Mr. R. W. Seton-Watson in "Corruption and Reform in Hungary." "Not many years ago a noble count stood as candidate for a seat in the Hungarian legislature and was in due course elected. Soon afterward
a deputation of the electors visited him in Budapest, reminded him of his promises at the time of the election
and asked him to use his influence in a certain direction. "Why do you come to me?" asked the count. "Why, because you are our representative," the astounded peasants replied. "Nothing of the kind," said the count. "I bought the constituency for £2,000. You all had your price—free lunches and free drinks into the bargain. I'm—I'm—I do nothing for you. We are quits." And in another minute the deputation
found itself in the street."

Von Weber's Last Portrait.

A strange memorial of a famous man
was among the possessions of George Augustus Sala. He tells of it in "My Life and Adventures." "My mother prior to her widowhood
had known Von Weber during his visit to London in 1826. He was a frequent visitor to our house in New street,
and I have a water color drawing of the illustrious German composer in a gray dressing gown sitting in a large
pink and white striped covered fauteuil, his head sunk on his breast and looking desperately ill. Beneath is the inscription, "Alas, poor Karl Maria!"
The great musician died, indeed, in

DEAD SEA WATER.

Its Density Is More Than Double That
of the Red Sea.

The Dead sea contains 22 per cent
of solid matter and is bulk for bulk
heavier than the human body.

Many believe that it is impossible to swim in this sea, and even in Jerusalem ridiculous fables are told as to the impossibility of bathing there and that no animals or vegetation can exist
near its shores.

So far as swimming is concerned,
the excessive buoyancy of the water
simply renders it difficult to make much headway, but a swim is both feasible and enjoyable. Care should be taken, however, not to let the water
get into the eyes.

Indeed, did Palestine belong to any power but Turkey probably the northern shore of the Dead sea would be a popular bathing station. No doubt the chloride of magnesium which enters so largely into the composition of the water would be found to have medicinal and curative properties.

Perhaps a better idea of the density of the water of this inland sea may be realized from the following statistics: In a ton of water from the Caspian sea there are eleven pounds of salt; in the Baltic, eighteen pounds;
in the Black sea, twenty-six pounds;
in the Atlantic, thirty-one pounds; in the English channel, seventy-two pounds;
in the Mediterranean, eighty-five pounds; in the Red sea, ninety-three pounds; in the Dead sea, 187 pounds.—
World's Work.

A Man Who Knew Everything.

Thiers, the French statesman, was a victim of many whimsies. None had stronger hold on him, says Mgr. Gabriel Hanotaux in "Contemporary France," than his desire to get everybody to recognize his universal competency.

Of an applicant for the post of director at the Serres manufactory Thiers said:

"He is no more made for that part
than I for— and then he stopped.
"Ah, oh! M. Thiers," said his interlocutor, "you find it hard to say what you could not do."

"That's the truth! That's the truth!"
cried the statesman gleefully.

One day Thiers said, speaking of a man who had been raised to a high function:

"He is no more suited for that office
than I am to be a druggist. And yet,"
he added, catching himself up, "I do know chemistry!"

Disappears.

There is a town in England which
when you approach it disappears.
Seems impossible, doesn't it? But it is quite true. The town is in Norfolk, and its name is Diss. Thus, you see,
when you approach it Diss appears.—

EVERYONE NEEDS IT

W. F. Hennings is Having a Wonderful Sale of Thompson's Barosma, the Mighty Kidney and Liver Specific.

And no wonder, when he offers to refund your money if it doesn't cure any disease of the kidneys, liver or bladder, backache, sideache, nervousness or any weakness of the kidneys. But Thompson's Barosma has made so many almost miraculous cures that W. F. Hennings' is pretty certain not to have any returns.

Here are a few instances. Frank L. Sturges, Sturtevant, Crawford county, Pa., was cured of Bright's disease six years ago and only took six bottles. He has had no bad symptoms since.

"I had kidney trouble and enlargement of the liver and spleen. I took Thompson's Barosma. The first bottle reduced the measurement around my stomach from 45 to 36 inches, and several bottles completely cured me."—M. S. Langworthy, Tryonville, Pa.

After suffering the terrible agony of rheumatism for ten years, being compelled to use crutches, J. N. Dunn, Troy Center, Pa., after all hope had left him, and he had no faith in any remedy took six bottles of Thompson's Barosma, threw away his crutches and went to work for the first time in ten years.

These statements are absolutely true, and the Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa., will prove it. Then why should anyone suffer in the face of such facts? How can they suffer when W. F. Hennings' guarantees to refund the money if a cure is not effected? Thompson's Barosma, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Fleeced the Queen

When George IV. was crowned it was feared that the discarded Queen Caroline might appear and create a scene at Westminster abbey during the ceremony. A gentleman of the name of Chutneigh offered to go into the anteroom where Caroline was waiting and keep her engaged until the conclusion of the ceremony. That was a time when nearly everybody gambled and the discarded queen was no exception to the rule. After a few casual remarks about the weather Chutneigh took three cards from his pocket and invited Caroline to play the lady. Time and again she looked her judgment with money and each time lost. Then she played higher stakes in the hope of retrieving her ill fortune. Her last guinea had been taken in by Chutneigh before she remembered her intention to be at the coronation. But it was too late. The ceremony was over, and the new king, "the greatest blackguard in all Europe," was on his way to the palace. To Mr. Chutneigh who thus holds the credit of introducing the three card trick into England a pension was granted.

Obeys Directions.

One of the small theaters in Pittsburgh at which moving pictures and vaudeville sketches alternate recently changed a sign which read "Ladies that remove their hats will find mirrors and all conveniences on the room to the left as they pass out. Thank you for removing them." Some of their patrons acted too literally on the sign. Just before it was changed one of the employees saw a woman of rustic appearance and a happy expression leaving with several combs, a brush and two small hand mirrors. "Say, what do you think you're doing with those things?" he demanded. She was taking them home, she informed him.

"Now, yer not," said the man; "we don't put them things in there for you to take away." "Well, of all things," exclaimed the indignant dame, "an' didn't I read with my own eyes that you would thank ladies to remove them. And ain't I a lady?" Then the sign was changed.—Pittsburgh Gazette Times

Telephone Blunders.

"Have you any spare ribs?" was the question asked a Portland business man recently, when he took down the telephone receiver to answer a call. For a moment the business man thought he was the subject of some joke, but the sweet voice that asked the question reassured him, and he realized that there was some mistake, so he hastily answered: "No, madam, I am not Adam, and I am not willing to give up one of my ribs for any purpose."

"Oh, I beg your pardon" was the prompt reply. "I thought I had blundered into a meat market."

This incident brought forth a story about the chief of police of Oakland Cal. Some years ago, when asked over the telephone if he had any brains he grew furious and said some very impolite things to the lady who asked the question before he discovered that she wanted a butcher shop and not the chief of police.—Portland Oregonian

He Would Indeed.

"What's this word, pa?" asked Willie, pointing it out in his book. "Phenomenon," replied pa. "Well, what is that?" "That, my son, is exactly what you would be if you never disturbed your father with questions."—Catholic Standard and Times.

JOHN BANISTER.

Public concerts owe their direct encouragement to John Banister, who had won fame by his playing on the violin and who succeeded the celebrated Baltzar as leader of Charles II's band of twenty-four violins. Pepys, in an entry in his diary for February, 1667, tells us the court gossip of the day—"how the king's violin Banister is mad that the king-bath a Frenchman come to be chief of some part of the king's musique."

Banister's concerts at the close of the year 1672 were advertised in the London Gazette as follows: "These are to give notice that at Mr John Banister's house (now called the musick school, over against the George tavern in White Fryers, the present Monday will be musick performed by excellent masters, beginning precisely at 4 of the clock in the afternoon, and every afternoon for the future precisely at the same hour."

Four years later on we read again, "At the academy in Little Lincoln's Inn Fields will begin the first part of the parley of instruments, composed by Mr. John Banister." The admission was at this time as a rule a shilling, and these concerts seem to have been held pretty regularly down to within a short time of Banister's death, which took place in 1679.—London Graphic

The Peanut

The common peanut originally came probably from tropical America. Peanuts were introduced into the United States in the days of the colonies. Botanically the peanut belongs to the same group of plants as beans and peas, but the peanut matures its fruit or nut under the surface of the soil, not above ground, as do most other leguminous plants. Properly speaking, the peanut is a pea rather than a nut, the term "nut" having been added on account of its flavor, which is similar to that of many of the true nuts. The peanut is known under the local names of goober, goober pea, pindar, groundpea and groundnut.

Reasonable Request.

"Ladies and gentlemen" appealingly began the village bandy man advancing to the front of the stage and addressing the few patient persons who remained of the audience which had assembled to witness the beautiful pastoral drama, "The Mad Miller's Daughter" written by the hamlet's accomplished authoress and presented by home talent performers. "I am requested by the members of the company to ask you to remain until the end of the play. In the next act, which I solemnly assure you is the last, the villain gets his due and is slain without mercy, and we want witnesses."—Puck

They Might Do Worse

The German proprietor of a Brooklyn delicatessen store has got far enough along to pun in English. A writer in the New York Sun reports the fact.

Hanging in the window of the little shop is this advertisement: "The best you can do is to buy our wurst."

A Borrower

"Has Duncuss any occupation?" inquired Rugeles. "Yes," said Shadbolt. "He's a solicitor." "Solicitor? For what?" "Small and unsecured loans."—Chicago Tribune

A Surprised Poet.

Wife—What is the matter, dear? Haven't they published your poem? Poet—Oh yes, that's all right, but they're actually selling the paper at a penny, as though there was nothing unusual in it.—London Tit-Bits.

Tickled With a Feather.

"I never knew any one who could be so tickled with a feather as my wife." "Ticklish is she?" "Not usually, but this was an ostrich feather she bought at a bargain sale."—Philadelphia Ledger

How to Cure Chronic Colds and Bronchitis

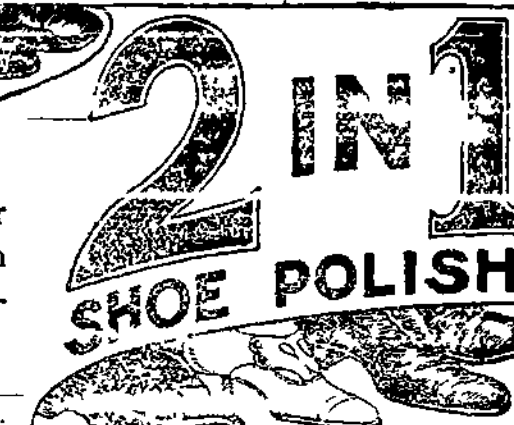

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910.

"I was sick for two years with a chronic cold and bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors, and had to give up work. VINOL was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve. I gained in weight and strength, my cold and bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend VINOL to anyone who is in need of such a medicine."—THOMAS HIGGINS.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cod's livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL which makes it so successful in curing stubborn colds and bronchitis.

VINOL is a constitutional remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups. Try a bottle of VINOL. If you don't think it helped you, we will return your money.

No Room For Him.

Several relics of exceptional value and of unusual interest to archaeologists were discovered in a small town near Nuremberg, and as soon as the news reached him the director of the Nuremberg Historical museum went to the village and introduced himself to the mayor, saying:

"I am in charge of the museum at Nuremberg, and I'd like to—" "You're too late, my good sir," interrupted the mayor. "We already got here several merry-go-rounds, a bearded woman, a theatrical company composed of apes, a troupe of trained dogs and a band of Hungarian musicians, so you can readily see that we've got no room for your museum!" And with these words he nodded to the director and went away.

Champion Egg Layers.

Many insects are extremely prolific. All of the order Hymenoptera, the bees and ants, lay large numbers, but they are easily exceeded by the order Plecoptera, the stone flies, one female of which deposits from 5,000 to 6,000 eggs. But the champion egg layers are the insects embraced in the order Isoptera, the white ants. Dr. Howard states that these insects are called white ants because they are not ants and because they are not white, but he further goes on to tell us that the females of some of the African species grow to an enormous size and their abdomen, swollen with eggs, becomes as big as a large potato. The rate at which the eggs are laid is extraordinary, being about sixty a minute, or 80,000 and upward a day.

Try Mi-o-na stomach tablets for nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, foul breath, heaviness after eating, loss of appetite, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy and that all gone feeling the morning after the social session.

Robespierre's Style of Dress.

Robespierre's manner of dress, even at the period when the demagogues affected the slovenliness and disorder of indigence in order to flatter the people, was clean, decent and precise as that of a man who respects himself in the eyes of others. His white powdered hair turned up in clusters over his temples, a bright blue coat buttoned over his hips, given over to the breast to display a white vest, short yellow colored breeches, white stockings and shoes with silver buckles, formed his invariable costume during the whole of his public life. It was said that he desired by thus never varying the style or color of his garments to make the same impression in the sight and imagination of the people as a medal of his face would have caused.—Lamartine's "History of the Girondists"

Very Sensitive.

"I don't know what I am going to do with that kid of mine. He's always getting into fights. I jerked him up for it the other day. 'What do you mean by fighting on the public streets like this?' I asked. 'Well,' he said, 'Jimmy Montgomery said you were my father.' 'Well, ain't I your father?' 'I s'pose you are, but a feller don't want it thrown up to him right in front of a crowd.'—Boston Traveler

A Taste For Soap.

Surely one of the queerest of tastes was that of the historian Prescott, of whose life in Rome Mrs. Hugh Fraser tells in "A Diplomatist's Wife in Many Lands." She says that he used to keep a cake of soap on his writing table and nibble at it constantly, "saying, when he was remonstrated with, that people should be clean inside as well as out."

Most Important.

George (as he arrives home two hours later)—What on earth is the matter, dearest?

Young Wife—The baby said "Dad!"—Exchange.

Where His Interest Lay.

PETER PINDAR'S RUDE.

It Enabled the Astute Author to Drive a Good Bargain.

Some time about the beginning of the nineteenth century Peter Pindar (Dr. John Wolcott) drove a good bargain with the publishers, Robinson & Walker. While negotiations were under way the author developed an attack of asthma, which was always at its most distressing stage whenever the publishers were present. He was only fifty-seven then, but the publishers decided that their chances were good and agreed to pay him an annuity of £250 instead of a lump sum for his work.

Soon after the bond was signed the doctor went to Cornwall, where he recovered his health, and returned to London without any cough, which was far from being a pleasing sight to the persons who had to pay his annuity. One day he called upon Mr. Walker, the manager for the parties, who, surveying him with a scrutinizing eye, asked him how he did. "Much better, thank you," said Wolcott. "I have taken the measure of my asthma; the fellow is troublesome, but I know his strength and am his master." "Oh!" said Mr. Walker gravely, and turned into an adjoining room, where Mrs. Walker, a prudent woman, had been listening to the conversation. Wolcott, aware of the feeling, paid a keen attention to the husband and wife and heard the latter exclaim: "There, now, didn't I tell you he wouldn't die? Fool that you're been! I knew he wouldn't die."

Peter Pindar survived both the partners.—New York Post.

CAUGHT ON THE BOUNCE.

The Parson's Second Barrel Play on the Wounded Ducks.

When the night wind whines about the gunning cabin nestled in the beach hills the hearts within grow reminiscent.

"The best canvasback shooting I ever had was down off the mouth of Crazy inlet," said the parson. "A ripping northeaster was blowing, and I was out on the end of the point alone. The ducks came down wind along the edge of the shoal, and they were so far away that it was just impossible to kill them outright. I could have had a hundred shots that day, they came so thick, but I let a lot of them go by. At dark I had picked up twenty-two

Curley gave the parson a long look filled and lighted his pipe, then sort of in disgust, for he was an old hand and he knew that one needed more than a pinch of salt to capture a wounded canvasback in open water.

"Suppose you hypnotized those birds you couldn't kill dead into coming ashore for you to wring their necks?" he grunted.

"No," said the parson slowly; "they were going so fast that when I knocked 'em down they'd hit the water and bound up ten or fifteen feet. Then I'd kill 'em on the first bounce with the second barrel."—Outing.

The Name Tibet.

Many forms of the name Tibet sprang from the Chinese T'ibar (fifth century) through the variations of Tuetet, Toboet, Tibbet (1165), Tebet (1298), to Tibet (1730). The origin of the name has been variously accounted for, but the weight of historical evidence indicates that the word is derived from Tubat, a famous family name proper to several ancient Tartar dynasties, extensively used in the sense of "chief." Hodgson asserts that before the arrival of Indian teachers the people had no name for themselves or their land, and that though the present name is not, as some say, unknown in the country itself, the modern Tibetans call themselves Bod-pa and their land Bod-yul. Bod being a Buddhist appellation suggested by the Sanskrit bodhi, or bat, so working back to the Tartar name.—London Spectator.

A Joke and a Law.

Tradition is that the habeas corpus act was put on the English statute books as the outcome of a joke at the expense of a bulky lord. It was in the final division in the house of lords and Lord Grey and Lord Norris were appointed tellers. Lord Norris was not attentive to his duties, and when a very fat lord came in Lord Grey counted the obese person for ten, at first as a joke; but, seeing Lord Norris had not observed, the other noble lord went on with the miscount. By that means, says Bishop Burnet, a sufficient number of votes was secured, and the bill was passed. Long afterward the American colonists took over the act from England.

When Knighthood Was In Flower.

Mrs. Liteknigh—Could you oblige me with a heavy hammer, a chisel, your pinners and half a dozen rivets? Mrs. Knighthigh—Certainly. Are you doing a little sewing for the children? Mrs. Liteknigh—No. My husband ripped his Sunday coat yesterday, and I want to mend it.

Easier Way.

"Don't you think it must be a dreadful thing to live from hand to mouth?" "I don't know. I live myself from hand to foot."

"How's that?" "My tradesman hands out the bills, and my husband foots them."—Baltimore American.

Kean and Macready.

When Edmund Kean and Macready, intense rivals, played in the same pieces at Drury Lane it was usual to consult them in the course of the evening as to what they would appear in next. One night when the prompter was sent to ask Mr. Macready what he would play with Mr. Kean the great tragedian frowned upon him till he blushed. "Sir," he roared, "how should I know what the man would like to play?" The prompter retired to seek the desired information from Mr. Kean. "Sir," said Mr. Kean sharply, "how should I know what the fellow can play?"

Analogies.

"I understand your friend Jenkins has resigned that city clerkship he held."

"Resigned? H'm!"

"Oh, wasn't it voluntary?" "Well, it was just as voluntary as his contributions to the campaign fund were."—Philadelphia Press.

The Riddle.

"Woman is a riddle," remarked the Wise Guy.

"Yes," agreed the Simple Mug. "She keeps us guessing, and we hate to give her up."—Philadelphia Record.

Waiting.

"De man dat puts in too much time learnin' to wait patiently," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to git out o' practice fob doin' anything else."—Washington Star.

Time ripens all things. No man is born wise.—Cervantes.

TWILIGHT WINS FROM CATHOLICS

Boys From Adjoining Borough Prove Too Strong for Church Leagues

The Catholics of the Church League, were defeated by a team from Twilight on the league grounds last evening but in justice to the former, it must be said that they were minus the services of some of their strongest players. However the visitors were entitled to the victory, as they put up the better exhibition. The contest was a pretty one for four innings, but in the fifth the visitors, by a display of consecutive hitting, assumed a safe lead by scoring four runs. Alex Sutherland was in the box for the visitors. He is a left-hander with a fine assortment of curves and good control, and was practically unhit when men were on bases, while Deitz was round when runs meant runs. It is possible that a return game will be played.
